Cartagena is a great city to visit wander with delights around every corner, especially within the walled parts of the city which show fine examples of the city's architecture during the Spanish colonial period. Along with the impressive walls are many coral stone forts that date back 500 years including Castillo de San Felipe, a fortress dating to 1657 which was built by the Spanish to help protect their gold-carrying ships from pirate attacks. Next to the castle lies La Popa hill which rises to 150m in height and is well worth a visit for the fantastic views over Cartagena it affords.
