The national symbols of Colombia illustrate the country's unique biodiversity. The national tree of Colombia is the wax palm tree that grows in the Cocora valley in Cundinamarca. It is the tallest in the world. Another symbol is a very beautiful orchid called Cattleya trianae or May flower. The national bird is the Andean condor which is the largest flying bird in the world. There are many other interesting facts about Colombia's natural resources for example, Colombia has a wide variety of amphibians such as the golden poison frog, the world's most poisonous animal, which lives in the Pacific rainforest of Colombia. Colombia has also confirmed the presence of the blue-bearded helmet crest, a very rare hummingbird. Scientists thought these birds were extinct but they are living in the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta.
