

Life is wonderful, that's why you have to live it and not fall into bugs or try to take your life for meaningless things, knowing that there is only one life and that when you take life you do not return to the world and drugs and addictions are the most harmful thing in the world. world that's why you don't even have to come close to that