The Race into Space

Is it time to book your ticket? Sandra Lim

American millionaire Dennis Tito will always be famous. He was the first tourist in space. "I spent sixty years on Earth and eight days in space and from my viewpoint, it was two separate lives", Tito explained. He loved his time in space. "Being in space and looking back at Earth is one of the most rewarding experiences a human being can have". He says the best part of the experience was speaking to his children on Earth over the radio.

This kind of experience isn't cheap. It cost Tito $20 million. However, Tito achieved his dream, so he was happy. "For me it was a life dream that began when I didn't have any money," he told the reporters.

On 30 April 2002, Mark Shuttleworth became the world's second space tourist. Shuttleworth is a South African businessman. At the age of twenty-eight, he also paid $20 million for the eight-day trip. On the International Space Station, he helped the astronauts with research into AIDS.

Both Tito and Shuttleworth bought their tickets from a company called Space Adventures. The company has around 100 people already on their waiting list for flights into space. The spaceship to take them doesn't exist yet.

Many of the customers are people who like adventure. They are the kind of people who also want to climb Mount Everest. Other customers are people who love space.

However, these people are worried. Because it's so expensive, only very rich people can go into space. They want space travel to be available to more people. They dream of the day when there will be space hotels and sports centers all around the Earth, in space.

That day may soon be here. Inter Orbital System (IOS) plans to send up to four tourists a week into space. The tours will depart from an island in Tonga. The company promises a package that includes forty-five days of astronauts training in Russia and California, seven days in space, and a vacation in Tonga, for $2 million.

However, space flight is still very dangerous. Bill Readdy is NASA's deputy assistant administrator for space flight. He says that the chances of dying are about 1 in 500. Because of this, it may take time before space tourism really takes off. You might be able to go up, but will you come down.
